

Dragonflies Grounds Week

During Grounds Week, Dragonflies went to the woods to look for leaves that had fallen to the ground. The children brought these leaves back into class where they then sketched the leaves into their sketch books. They were focusing on accurate outlines, shading and using pencil lines for effect.

We then went back to the woods looking for bugs with exoskeletons (skeletons on the outside of the body). The children found lots of woodlice which we brought back to the classroom to sketch and label.
